

Kimberly Richardson

Kimberly Richardson is a 7-year breast cancer survivor who was diagnosed in 2017 with Stage III Invasive Ductal Carcinoma (IDC). Throughout her cancer journey, Kimberly leaned deeply on her faith, trusting God to guide her through uncertainty, fear, and healing. What the enemy meant for harm, God used to strengthen her spirit and clarify her calling.

Following her diagnosis, Kimberly made a vow to God to serve others facing similar battles. That promise has shaped her passion for nonprofit work and her commitment to walking alongside individuals and families affected by cancer. She currently serves as the Scholarship Committee Chairperson for Angels Surviving Cancer and previously served 2–3 years on the organization's Executive Board.

Kimberly is especially moved by the mission of raising funds to support high school students pursuing higher education whose mothers have succumbed to or are currently battling cancer. This work is deeply personal to her and reflects her belief that God calls us to be a light, a helper, and a source of hope for others. Through faith, service, and compassion, Kimberly continues to honor her survivor journey by lifting others as God has lifted her.
