

Veronica Foye relocated to Houston, Texas, from the Washington, DC metropolitan area, where she has built a life centered on faith, family, service, and leadership. She is a devoted mother of one, an author, a serial entrepreneur, and a 2028 doctoral candidate with a passion for empowering others and creating meaningful impact.

As the owner of EDJ Alexander Consulting Group, Veronica partners with organizations to strengthen operations, improve efficiency, and develop strategic solutions that support growth and long-term success. She is committed to helping mission-driven organizations operate with excellence while creating lasting, positive change in the spaces they serve.